Membership Benefits

The Coalition of Hematology and Oncology Practices of the Southwest (CHOP) is a meaningful support organization for independent oncology practice leaders in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Our mission is to improve the business conditions for oncology and hematology practices through personal development and professional education.

CHOP's Goals Include:

- To develop business strategies for the future of oncology practices
- To create protection for small group and independent practices against the effect of increasing drug costs on revenues
- To become a voice in our government's decisions
- To educate and support our peers and our partners

CHOP Membership Offers:

- Relevant information in a timely manner
- Quarterly Webinars
- Networking Opportunities
- Educational Conferences
- Legislative & Policy Updates
- Practice Management Resources and much more!

ACTIVE MEMBERSHIP:

An individual that is the voting member of a practice (1 per practice).

Active members benefit from an association designed to help individual oncology professionals learn from their peers and share ideas, advice, and experiences. Active members are eligible to attend CHOP business and educational meetings (1 regional and 1 state annually) and are eligible to run for board positions.

Annual Active Membership Fee: $50

ASSOCIATE MEMBERSHIP:

Individuals working within an Oncology Hematology Clinic but the Clinic is already represented by an Active Member.

Associate members benefit from an association designed to help individual oncology professionals learn from their peers and share ideas, advice, and experience. Associate members are eligible to attend CHOP business and educational meetings (1 regional and 1 state annually).

Annual Associate Membership Fee: $25

CORPORATE MEMBERSHIP:

Corporate Member benefits include networking and education opportunities; participation in CHOP events, unique membership opportunities dependent on level of membership; fixed ads on CHOP website and much more.
